Nurse, Husband Held for Attempt To Murder Son, 4

DUNKIRK, N. Y. (AP)—A nurse and her husband, a college student, have been charged with attempted murder. Her four-year-old son was found bound and gagged, his head tied in paper sacks.

Wilfred M. Rose, 29, and his wife, Dolores, 30, were arraigned Sunday before a peace justice on charges of attempted first-degree murder. They are being held for a preliminary hearing.

Sacks Over Head

The boy, James, was found at 1 p. m. Saturday on the floor of a barricaded and sealed bedroom in a trailer home rented by the Roses. Police said three paper sacks covered his head and were tied at his neck.

His hands were taped together and his mouth taped shut. Except for shoes and socks, he was nude.

Bruises on Body

Dr. Samuel Patti, Chautauque County coroner, said the boy would have suffocated if he had not been found when he was. He said the boy weighed only 28 pounds, was undernourished and had suffered bruises.

Dr. Patti said the boy was in (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

U.S. Is Launching Its Deadliest Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The United States continues its push for underwater military supremacy today with the launching of the world's fastest and deadliest submarine, the Skipjack.

The 250-foot sharklike atomic craft is expected to outperform all existing submarines and set new standards for the Navy's growing nuclear undersea fleet. She is named for a quick, sly, tough fish of the mackerel family. Her nonstop range is 60,000 miles.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, will give the address at the launching ceremony. The submarine will be christened by Mrs. George H. Mahon, wife of Rep. Mahon, (D-Tex.).

The Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., builder of the vessel, says the craft's blimp-shaped hull and other innovations should enable her easily to smash records set by the first three atomic subs, Nautilus, Seawolf and Skate.

The Navy lists the Skipjack's top speed only as in excess of 20 knots, but it is believed to be considerably higher.

Six additional subs of her class have been ordered by the Navy. As the prototype of a new class, the Skipjack costs an estimated 60 million dollars. Subsequent models will be less expensive.

Sprague Endorsement Major Boost for Hall

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A sometime-foe has handed Leonard W. Hall a political endorsement that could well boom into the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

J. Russel Sprague, powerful GOP leader of Hall's home Nassau County, said Sunday night he would "deem it a great honor" to ask the county committee to endorse Hall. The committee, which meets tonight, is certain to follow Sprague's lead.

Meanwhile, Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney picked up Cattaraugus County, one of the several Western New York counties that would form the cornerstone for any try he might make for the nomination.

The camp of Nelson A. Rockefeller, the third big name in the GOP sweepstakes, was quiet over the weekend, publicly at least.

No Declarations Yet

None of the three has yet declared his candidacy. Hall has promised an announcement by June 1.

At a meeting of Young Republicans in Schroon Lake Saturday night, Hall pitched hard for the support of another big name—Thomas E. Dewey.

No governor in New York history was greater than Dewey, Hall declared. He said Dewey had given the state "12 exciting and fruitful years of progressive leadership and Republican good government."

Says Work Undone

Of Democratic Gov. Harriman, the man he would face for the governorship, Hall remarked:

"In less than four fumbling years, Harriman is undoing much of Dewey's work and is trying to reduce the finest state government in America to a political appendage of Tammany Hall."

Hall, who lives in Oyster Bay, frequently has been at odds with Sprague during the years Hall served as a congressman and the GOP national chairman.

Sprague's View

All was rosy in Mineola Sunday night, however. After a meeting of the county executive committee Sprague told reporters:

"Since this is Len's home county, I think we would be remiss if we did not endorse a resolution calling for his nomination by the New York State Republican convention." He added:

"I will personally deem it a great honor to introduce that resolution" at the full committee meeting tonight in New Hyde Park.

Sprague's words signalled the end of any slim hopes Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck of Schenectady still might hold of winning the nomination. Sprague once was reported in Heck's corner. His enthusiasm dimmed, observers believe, over the frequently voiced opinion that Heck could not win enough votes in New York City to beat Harriman.

The same has been said about Mahoney, who lives in Buffalo. But Mahoney's workers keep busy.

Thomas, 19 Loses Life In Mishap

George Michael Thomas, 19, of 271 Hasbrouck Avenue, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital early Saturday night after his motorcycle went out of control on Route 9W, Port Ewen, and crashed into the Minute Car Wash.

Coroner Michael Galletta issued a verdict of accidental death due to a fractured skull.

Young Thomas, a graduate of Kingston High School in the class of 1956, was proceeding north when an unidentified car, traveling in the opposite direction, made a left turn in front of the cycle, it was reported by Kingston state police who investigated. Time of the mishap was listed as 6:25 p. m.

The youth, who worked as a machinist at the Kingston plant of IBM, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Schultz Ambulance.

The motorcycle is owned by George Van Horne, 17, of 27 Orchard Street, who was riding a second cycle in company with Thomas at the time of the accident.

Van Horne told Trooper A. W. Scrima that he and Thomas were riding together at the time. The Minute Car Wash is located on the east side of the highway.

Thomas was born in Kingston, son of George M. and Adela H. Bolechewicz Thomas.

He was educated at Immaculate Conception School and Heart Attack Is Fatal to Horan, Watchdog Figure

MOUNT VERNON (AP)—Assemblyman William F. Horan, 53, died today of a heart attack in Mount Vernon Hospital.

Word of Horan's illness was not disclosed earlier by orders of his family. He was stricken with a heart attack Thursday and taken to the hospital Friday. He suffered two more attacks Saturday. A blood clot was discovered and he was placed in an oxygen tent. He died shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Nominated Again

Horan, who was best known for his chairmanship of the legislative watchdog committee, was taken ill Thursday en route to the county Republican committee meeting at White Plains, N. Y., which nominated him for a fourth Assembly term.

He had served in the Assembly since 1952. For 10 years prior to that he was supervisor of Eastchester, the town's chief executive officer. He had previously been chief assistant and assistant district attorney of Westchester County for almost a decade.

Had Main Weapon

As chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Government Operations, as the watchdog committee was formally named, Horan controlled the main Republican weapon in the GOP's charges of indifference toward syndicated crime by Democratic Gov. Harriman.

Horan dug into the notorious Apalachin meeting of gangsters and their friends, flagrant vice in New York.

Referee's Verdict Is Affirmed Suit Was for Value of Cattle

A $2,952.84 judgment awarded in Supreme Court by Official Referee Christopher J. Heffernan in favor of Abe Bernstein of Kerhonkson against Sara and Margaret V. Ackerman of Rosendale, has been unanimously affirmed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

Abe Bernstein, Kerhonkson cattle dealer, sold cattle to Margaret V. Ackerman, owner of the farm. Plaintiff was not paid for the cattle and he sued in Supreme Court for the value of the cattle. On June 30, 1953, while such indebtedness was in existence, Margaret V. Ackerman, for a nominal sum conveyed three parcels of land to her daughter, Sara Ackerman, and on October 10, 1954, Margaret V. Ackerman transferred all of her remaining property to her daughter.

In the conveyance was a provision that the "home farm," and only that farm, was to be charged with the support and maintenance of herself, Margaret V. Ackerman, and her son, Sylvan, as long as they both lived.

An action was brought to set aside the conveyances as fraudulent against creditors. Plaintiff alleged that he had been told if he pressed for payment of his judgment he "would get nothing and the property would be transferred."

Official Referee Heffernan found that the farms were valued at $25,000, and that Sara Ackerman also received from her mother a transfer of $14,000 due from lands taken for the Thruway, and $2,000 due from sale of sand, making a total of $41,000. She assumed a mortgage of $8,000.

Reports Minimizing Police Efficiency Disturb Mayor; Cites Correction Plan

Corrective measures for some nearly three months have elapsed since the release of the Reuter Commission report and "none of his (former State Investigation Commissioner Arthur L. Reuter's) recommendations for revamping the department has been implemented."

"The Board of Police Commissioners, the police department and my administration have made every effort to improve the public relations of the department and every derogatory remark is merely another impediment toward reaching our goal," Mayor Radel said.

The Albany paper said that

Steps to correct those "inadequacies," he said, include:

1) A meeting scheduled Tuesday at 8 p. m. between the police commissioners with the Municipal Civil Service Commission to discuss an eligibility list.

2) Renovation of department headquarters in city hall to facilitate operations and assure privacy of operation and

3) Enactment of recommendations by Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner of the New York State Police, assigned here several months ago by Gov. Harriman.

Chance Is Asked For Own Rules

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—The Cornell Student Council believes the egg-throwing demonstrations by students battling to keep off-campus parties reflected a legitimate protest against the university administration, the council president said today.

University President Deane W. Malott was splashed with eggs and his home stoned early Saturday in the climax of two days of student outbreaks. Four students, including the son of a professor, were suspended.

Long Meeting

The student council's executive committee took up the matter at a closed meeting that began last night and lasted into the early hours today.

Afterward, Council President K. Peter Kellogg, a junior from Larchmont, told reporters the council felt the demonstrations represented a legitimate protest because the university:

1. Refused to give the students a chance to put into effect their own set of house-party rules, told them to accept university-written rules or not have house-parties.

2. Banned alcohol at football games last fall without asking student opinion.

Present Rules

Under present university rules, men living in registered apartments off campus may entertain girls at parties, as long as at least two girls are present.

Reports that these parties would be banned, Kellogg said, led the undergraduates to believe that the pattern of not asking student opinion was repeating itself.

The Cornell student newspaper, in this morning's edition, said the "way in which the protests were staged and the invitations to national publicity... reflected the in-

Drive For De Gaulle Spreading Worst Postwar Crisis Darkens

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Pflimlin today warned an emergency session of Parliament that a civil war is threatening and called on all Frenchmen to defend their basic liberties.

The embattled Premier went before the Assembly as the rightist drive to boost Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power spread through the overseas empire. France's worst postwar crisis was darkening hourly.

Insurgents in Algeria and Corsica claimed new successes. They boasted their crusade to put De Gaulle at the helm had spread to French Equatorial and West Africa, and New Caledonia and Tahiti in the Pacific.

Fighting Continues

Renewed fighting between French and Tunisian forces in southern Tunisia posed a grim problem. The government, in an effort to avert a Tunisian complaint to the Security Council, reportedly agreed to withdraw all French troops to the north coast area around the Bizerte naval base. But there was no assurance the military would honor the order.

In France the giant Communist-led Confederation of Labor called on its members working in government arsenals to "meet immediately to plan counteraction against the Fascist aggression."

The raised the possibility the workers would try to seize arms if rightist mobs took to the streets in support of De Gaulle.

Friends of De Gaulle reported he would come to Paris tonight, and there were unconfirmed rumors that a meeting had been arranged between him and Pflimlin.

To Issue Declarations

Previously De Gaulle was cool to an overture that he mediate between the government and the insurgents in Algeria, but his friends said the general within 48 hours would issue a declaration deploring the insurrection in Corsica. They added he would say once again that he is available to lead the government.

Pflimlin told the Assembly there had been "no justification and no excuse" for the military-led seizure of power in Corsica.

He said the government has already increased its security measures to prevent spread of the pro-Gaullist insurgency to the French mainland.

Effort to Stem Revolt

Striving to stem the tide of revolt, the government:

1. Cut off communications and supplies to the insurgents who consolidated their control of Corsica with Algeria-type public safety committees.

2. Extended censorship to all news distributed in France—whether from French territories or from abroad. The French police seized today's issue of the European edition of the New York Herald Tribune for publishing a declaration of support for the rebel generals in Algeria by Adm. Philippe Auboyneau, the navy commander in the Mediterranean.

3. Announced government officials and military personnel who took part in the Corsica uprising would be fined and jailed.

4. Asked the Assembly to order expulsion from Parliament of any deputy who works against the unity of the republic. The bill was aimed at Corsican deputy Pascal Arrighi, who helped direct paratroopers and civilians in seizing power on the island. It could also be used against Jacques Soustelle, top Gaullist deputy who fled to take a top role in the Algerian revolt.

Spreads to Corsica

Pflimlin told the Assembly he was not sending new forces to maintain order in Corsica but that all "necessary" measures would be taken. This brought laughter from the rightist supporters of De Gaulle.

The rebellion spread to Corsica Saturday. Mobs led by paratroop-

French Mediterranean Fleet Poses Still Another Problem

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Pflimlin and his shaky government had a new problem today—the French Mediterranean fleet. Whose side is it on?

High sources in Paris admitted the fleet—under command of an admiral siding with the Algerian insurgents—is steaming an independent course in the Mediterranean. But the Defense Ministry insisted the ships are sailing under orders from Paris after completing NATO maneuvers.

Navy headquarters in Algeria announced this morning that the ships will make routine calls at the Algerian ports of Bone, Philippeville and Bougie, then return to their home base at Toulon in southern France. Such a cruise would keep the ships in the North African area for at least two weeks.

With rumblings in many of France's widespread overseas possessions, the defection of the fleet could be a body blow to the Paris government. The chances are slight that the Paris Cabinet could regain an upper hand against the wishes of the admir-to assist in reorganization of the local department.

A civil service eligibility list of 26 names for appointment to the local force was compiled May 14, but has not yet been acted upon by the police board.

To Determine Sequence
Mayor Radel indicated Tuesday evening's meeting would be held with the civil service board to determine the sequence in which the police board will request men, "not by name but by the number of men we'll need."

Li. Weidenborner has made many recommendations for improvements of the department, the mayor said, and many of those changes "hinge on the eligibility list."

The Albany newspaper account quoted Reuter's criticism of the department for maintaining arrest cards in unlocked files.

"The building and supply committee of the Common Council has received bids for the physical quarters of the police headquarters and I am hopeful that work on that can begin in the very near future," the mayor said.

Mayor Radel noted that certain areas of headquarters are available to the public without surveillance of those on duty.

Changes Listed
Physical changes in headquarters will enable the sergeant on duty to have complete surveillance of the office area, the mayor said.

Plans include a partition for the present chief's office into three sections—a chief's office, waiting room and detective bureau. The mayor said the present plan to prevent privacy in interviewing. Under the proposed system individual divisions will be able to operate independently and the civilian clerk, now located in the chief's office, will be moved into the headquarters operation.

Upon completion of the alterations in headquarters, work on the departmentalization of the operation will begin, the mayor indicated.

The Albany newspaper account quoted Reuter as saying the officer assigned to take fingerprints lacked training. "The fingerprinting man has received no further training since I took office January 1," Mayor Radel said.

Impresses Officials
He said the police board was "very impressed" with Lt. Weidenborner's recommendations and his work here. "I was so impressed with his efforts that I sent a letter of commendation to Francis S. McGarvey, superintendent of New York State Police, and the police board, at a recent meeting, voted to notify the lieutenant directly of their satisfaction with his work."

Among Lt. Weidenborner's recommendations are a proposal to increase the foot and automotive patrol by the city by the department around the clock, Mayor Radel said.

No 'Shrugging Off'
The mayor denied that there was any intention to "shrug off" plans for departmental trials, or "let the matter die." The voluminous files turned over to Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, "demand a considerable delay in departmental trials for 30 patrolmen accused by Reuter of crime or misconduct or both, has come under criticism."

The mayor said the grand jury report has been restricted to the corporation counsel who must apply to the county judge to release certain sections of that report before any action could be taken by the police commissioners.

Both reports, he indicated, take considerable time to review, which has been the reason for a delay in setting a date for departmental trials.

Explains About Murphy
The Albany paper quoted the mayor as opposed to the appointment of Robert L. Murphy as acting chief.

Mayor Radel agreed today that he was opposed to Murphy's appointment, "but it is not a case of personalities."

"Based on charges and inferences in the Reuter report, I think it was very poor judgment on the part of the police commissioners to make that appointment."

"I have assured Murphy personally, however, that if he emerges from any departmental trial unscathed, all charges are unfounded he most certainly is eligible to compete for any high-ranking office in the department, including chief."

Spring Musical Festival Huge Success at School

A brilliant musical pageant, superbly acted and directed, enthralled large audiences Friday and Saturday night at the Woodstock School auditorium, as more than 100 pupils took part in the "From Sophocles to Rodgers and Hammerstein" extravaganza written and directed by Hans A. Schimmerling, school music director and noted composer.

Even the most hardened musical critic would have found joy and delight in the two-hour performance that revealed a calibre of musical achievement rarely found in elementary school pupils.

The spring musical festival was bigger and better than ever. It featured superb chorus numbers, delightful ballets, quiz shows, comedy, sly touches of humor, everything to make it a memorable musical occasion.

Prof. Schimmerling, who worked from the piano directing the show, was amply rewarded for the heads of sweat that streamed down his face from the middle of the show to the end. The results proved once again that he is in a class by himself among the school musical directors of the area.

Great Talent Revealed
It would be difficult, perhaps arbitrary, to single out individual performers for special mention, but George Horner as the Court Jester and Nancy Majors as the Poet Laureate exhibited a high degree of the theatrical and musical skill. Young Horner also teamed with his sister, Bridget Horner, for a remarkable rendition of the duet from Don Giovanni.

Susan Marx as the gypsy girl in Carmen and Polly Wilson as the matador drew heavy applause in an amusing takeoff on the Bizet classic. Carol and Elaine Cousins as two dancers, Robert Walker as a Japanese sovereign and Gail Green as a Viennese nobleman were among other high spots of the show. Barbara Cohn was excellent in serious and lighter veils of humor and knowledge.

The superb chorus numbers, from the traditional Greek numbers to the operatic field, reflected excellent coaching and direction by Mrs. Schimmerling. The chorus from Aida was a musical masterpiece the school and community could well be proud of.

The distinctive styling and artistry of Madame Juana Manorska was amply evident in the Opéra and Wolf's Glen ballets. Both were sheer delight for the audience.

June Pauker, guest soprano, of Kingston, was in excellent voice in selections from Victor Herbert, Franz Lehár, Noel Coward. She opened her set with "I Could Have Danced All Night" from My Fair Lady by Frederick Lowe.

Musical Quiz
Prof. Schimmerling conducted a highly informative and entertaining musical quiz where the youngsters showed such a wide range of musical knowledge that most have been many adults in the audience blushing with envy. The contestants, all of whom received prizes, were: Barbara Cohn, Pam Dendy, Susan Gurland, Nancy Majors, 8th graders; George Horner, Susan Horsey, 7th graders; Mary Elwyn, Bridget Horner, Carolyn Hughes, Libby Jurist, 6th graders; Nancy Klotz, Jacqueline Majors, Karen Matthews, Lynn Merrich, Susan Perlmann, Lawrence Webster.

Making up the Paris municipal guard were: Ervin La Barr, Glen Lund, Richard Rudisill and Ross Van Wageningen. George Klippel appeared as a Negro.

He also introduced Mrs. Kermit Schwarz and praised her for her valuable contributions. In conclusion he said the show was further evidence that Prof. Schimmerling was without peer in his field, a sentiment that was enthusiastically shared by two captivated audiences.

Nobody Interested In Schine Theaters

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—An attorney for the Schine interests says no one is interested in buying its theaters. As evidence, he points to an auction here Saturday where no bids were received.

It was the second Schine theater auction where no bids were offered.

U. S. District Court, in an anti-monopoly proceeding, has ordered the company to dispose of 39 theaters. The company claims there is no market for them.

Saturday's auction was called off after half an hour. Three theaters were on the block. They are in Hudson Falls, Granville and Amsterdam.

In Rochester May 19, fourteen theaters were offered but no one bid.

The minimum prices range from $20,000 to $295,000.

The Schine attorney, Frank Riachle, of Buffalo, said the auctions were to show the company's good faith in trying to comply with the court order.

LET'S NOT KID OURSELVES

If you can imagine a good-sized English sports car orbiting the earth at heights up to 1,100 miles, you have a good notion what the Russians have done in dispatching Sputnik III.

This 2,900-pound space vehicle should do more than correct for any fresh complacency that might have followed from our own success in launching three satellites.

The fact is the new Soviet vehicle is carrying over 2,100 pounds of scientific instruments. Obviously the Russians are prepared for extensive research into outer space.

We cannot entirely satisfy ourselves by referring to Russia's equipment as bulky and crude, while stressing that our own highly miniaturized instruments represent technical achievement of a higher order.

Some of our scientists say flatly that Sputnik III is outfitted to make several tests of the atmosphere and of radiation which America's spinning satellites cannot make.

Nor is it exactly a total answer to Russia's accomplishment in firing this heavy device into space to say that we are concentrating our big rocket effort on long-range military missiles. The Soviet Union is presumed by many experts to be from months to perhaps two years ahead of us in the long-range rocket field.

Once again the Russians have reminded us—and the world—that their stunning feat of late 1957, the launching of the first two Sputniks, was no freak.

They are in this game to stay, and obviously they know how to play it.

Our satellite launchings did not represent a quick reassertion of American technical and scientific superiority but simply a demonstration of our own staying power in a long drawn-out match of talent and resources.

In this match Russia has just struck another offensive blow. The world will be watching the United States for its next stroke, knowing that the struggle for the conquest of space is inescapably bound up with the Kremlin's tireless battle for the conquest of the earth.

KEEP OUR YOUTH FIT

By proclamation of the President, the week of June 1-7 has been designated as Youth Fitness Week.

Technological advances of recent years have lessened the need for physical activity on the part of our young people, states the proclamation, with a consequent adverse effect on the health of our nation.

Since June is end-of-school month, when millions of youngsters across the land will pour out into the summer sun (quite happily, for the most part) for a two or two-and-a-half-month hiatus, it is appropriate that this week be set aside as a time of planning on the part of parents and civic groups "to promote programs and activities which will better the mental, social, spiritual and physical fitness of the youth of America."

Summer belongs to the kids, as does the future of the nation. School may end in June, but education—of the body as well as the mind—does not. It's up to adults to make the vacation months something more than a loaf between school terms.

THOMAS L. STOKES

Newspapermen in Washington feel deep regret at the death of Thomas L. Stokes, who had been one of the nation's best political writers for many years. Tom Stokes was a highly respected journalist in the national capital because of his integrity, his ability and conscientiousness. He won the admiration of colleagues, even of those who disagreed with him.

They saw Tom Stokes as a likeable man and one who lent dignity to his profession. He did not color the facts to suit his ideas, or those of his employers either. He also was ready to modify his ideas if he came to think that this was called for by the facts. The traits he possessed are not too

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

One of the experiences which every commentator on life encounters is the assertion that while he may know what he is talking about occasionally, he knows nothing about this or that particular subject, especially when what he says may affect someone's cash income.

For instance, I recently wrote about some theories that social workers hold and upon me descended an avalanche of vituperation, all to the point of my knowing nothing about gangs, gangsters, social workers and such. Maybe, I was born with a platinum spoon in my mouth.

According to the National Association of Social Workers, Connecticut Chapter I'm a hell of a guy because I do not agree that it is the function of society to mollycoddle bad boys and girls. Says M. Dovernan, Chairman of Public Relations and Interpretation Committee:

"... It is also proper for the public to expect from commentators like Mr. Sokolsky that they move on beyond their anger to offer outlines for constructive action to deal with the problems they write about."

Sure, I have a constructive suggestion. It is for the police to grab a show-off gangster, especially a teen-ager, and give him a good, old-fashioned whacking the way his father ought to do if the fellow ever had a father.

I have known gangs all my life. I lived, as a boy, in a part of New York where gangs abounded. On Pitt Street was the Kid Twist Gang; on Mulberry Street, the Paul Kelly Gang. South of them was what was left of the Five Points Gang. In Chinatown, girls were being lured into vice. I cite these not to show that my memory is good but to describe the environs. In the yard of the public school to which I went on Rivington Street, there were fellows who taught others to be pickpockets. Out of such folks came Gurrah and Lepke who organized Murder, Inc., in Brownsville, which is part of Brooklyn.

Sure, I know gangs and I know the difference in character between the gangs of this generation and that. In those days, a gang might steal but the boys did not rape. The boys never killed, although they picked pockets. And they feared the law. It was only during the Prohibition period that the law came to mean nothing. And that continues to this day. The good boys and the bad boys in my younger years respected the cops; today, a little punk is ready to fight it out with a cop.

In the years of my youth, a woman could walk through the streets of New York unmolested. A barber shop quartette might stand on a street corner and do a little "mashing" but that was as far as it went. Today, nobody dares go into a public park at night and mugging has taken place on main thoroughfares.

As for social workers, I have known them all my life, even before they became professionalized and had an association. After all, I am an alumnus of a social settlement, The Educational Alliance, which is still functioning. And a grand place it is, too.

But nobody coddled us. We were taught responsibility. Nobody made it easy for us. Nobody, in those days, would have failed to cooperate with the police.

Dovernan writes officially: "Mr. Sokolsky's article has done a disservice to the public for I believe that a consequence of it may be a hesitation by some people to give financial support to their community chests."

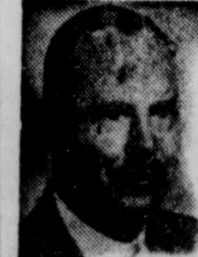

I cannot imagine anyone in "The Educational Alliance" or "The University Settlement," or "The Boys Club" writing such words. They would have been too proud. I do not idealize the noble men and women who did so much for me and boys and girls like me. Most of them were volunteers and they gave money as well as time to help us rise out of the slums in which we lived.

And they were all Americans and believed in human liberty and dignity, and they taught us to love this country and to fight for it. Not one of them would have written a paragraph like the following:

"I should like to suggest further that you consider the inauguration of a judicious screening of Mr. Sokolsky's future work to assure factual veracity. Uncurbed, Mr. Sokolsky does harm to the public image of journalism in its various forms as an ethical, constructive profession."

Oh dear! Oh dear!

Use of Tobacco Is Undesirable for Victim Of Lung Emphysema

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Emphysema is a disorder of the lungs generally resulting from long-continued infection or obstruction of the breathing apparatus.

Q—Is it harmful for a victim of emphysema to smoke?—R. M.

A—I believe most physicians would consider smoking undesirable in the presence of emphysema. It would be likely to increase the shortness of breath which is so common a symptom.

Q—What could cause my hands to become itchy and come out in big red blotches when I go out in the cold or if I put them into cold water?—K. G.

A—This is most probably a result of oversensitivity to cold and is sometimes called a physical allergy. It is not as common as many other forms of allergy.

Avoidance of exposure to cold, so far as possible, is one method of treatment. I believe a few cases have been relieved to some extent by treatments involving gradually increasing exposure to cold.

Q—Is there any good way to remove freckles?—Mrs. L. T.

A—A thoroughly satisfactory method for removing freckles is not available. There are some chemical substances which are recommended for application to the skin for this purpose, but their results are not always entirely satisfactory.

Freckles are the result of exposure of the skin to the rays of the sun. Thus freckling can be prevented to a considerable degree by avoiding such exposure.

Q—A friend of mine has been told by his doctor that he has a lateral nystagmus of the eyes. What is this condition?—Reader.

A—This is an involuntary rapid movement of the eyeball. Such movements may be in any one of several directions. The "lateral" part of the name refers to the sideways motion.

Nystagmus of itself is not a disease, but it may represent a sign of some disorder of the nervous system. In this case other nervous signs are also usually present.

Q—Please say something about the skin disease called lichen planus.—E. J.

A—This is a peculiar skin disorder of unknown cause. It is often associated with considerable itching. Because the cause is not known, treatment is aimed at the symptoms.

This includes soothing local preparations and sometimes the administration of various kinds of drugs, including those known as steroids. It is felt that in many instances emotional factors are important. The outlook varies considerably from patient to patient.

Washington News

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Soviet Russia's latest pitch to buy from 10 to 25 million dollars worth of American industrial equipment—to help relieve the U. S. depression—is seen here as another move in the Communist drive for economic penetration of the western world.

Allen W. Dulles, director of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, has been warning against this effort in recent speeches before American Society of Newspaper Editors and U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Now, here it is. Just how far-reaching Russian ambitions are in this direction was revealed at the recent Economic Commission for Europe meeting in Geneva.

ECE IS ONE of the United Nations Economic and Social Council subsidiaries. Its activities aren't very widely reported in this country. In some circles it is regarded as another futile sort of UN debating society which gives the Russians another forum for propaganda.

ECE has been working on East-West trade relations for 11 years. Its principal usefulness so far has been collecting the only statistics on Russian trade with its satellites and the free world.

But at its last Geneva meeting, the organization did succeed in blocking a slick Soviet program. H. J. Heinz II of Pittsburgh headed this year's U. S. delegation.

Twenty-nine countries sent delegations. Fourteen were from Communist countries. The Russian delegation of 20—twice as large as any other—was headed by A. V. Zaharov. He came as a Russian "businessman." His qualifications were that he had served four years as head of AMTORG.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 25, 1938—Miss Olive McDaniel was crowned Miss Queen at Kingston High School.

Richard R. Greene was re-elected president of Wiltwyck Hose Company No. 1.

May 26, 1938—The Most Rev. Stephen J. Donahue, Bishop of New York, confirmed 123 at St. Mary's Church.

Harvey Roosa was named superintendent of public works to succeed David P. Conway, who went with the New York City water department.

the Russian purchasing mission in New York.

WHAT SET THE Western delegations back on their heels at first was the sweep of the Russian proposals for doing more business with the West. The Communists knew exactly what they wanted and minced no words in making their demands.

Among the more important of their 14 proposals for ECE study and development were these: Greater export to the West of Russian and Polish electric power and coal.

A new program for pipelines to carry Russian natural gas to the West.

Western cooperation on industrialization of the Danube River. Greater exchange of Western technical know-how in the production of consumer goods, particularly synthetic fibers, plastics and chemicals.

Lifting of Western political restrictions against trade with the Communist countries.

Establishment of direct relationships between ECE and the new European Atomic Energy pool—EURATOM.

And to cap it all, the Russians suggested a conference of East-West trade ministers to plan for expanded commercial exchange.

TO THE CREDIT of the Western delegations, they were able to stymie every Russian ploy on every ground.

The West Germans, for instance, declared their country had no intention of becoming dependent on eastern European electric power, coal or natural gas, which would give the Russians an economic stranglehold on their economy.

Russia has been trying to break down the West's ban on shipment of strategic materials for years. This latest attempt got no further than previous attempts.

Remembering how the Communist countries froze the West out of Danube River traffic in the 1948 conference, the West declined the new bid to finance its development now.

The trade ministers' conference was rebuffed by the argument that there would have to be a Summit agreement on political differences before East-West trade could be taken up.

Russia's request for more know-how chemical production is interesting because this is the field in which Premier Nikita Khrushchev has just obtained Communist Central Committee approval of his 100-million-ruble expansion program. Russia now lags in synthetics, plastics and chemical industries.

Subversives in Cold War Called Guilty of Treason

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Does a nation wait till subversive individuals complete their conspiracy against their own country before trying them for treason?

Too many followers of the so-called "liberal" school of thought are arguing, in effect, that it is better to let the horse be stolen before trying to lock the barn and that, even if the nation's safety may be jeopardized, individual rights come ahead of the right of the state.

But a subcommittee of the United States Senate has come forth with a recommendation that something drastic be done before treasonable purposes are accomplished. Here is the latest proposal in a report from the Senate's subcommittee on internal security.

"The Congress should enact legislation to provide for the proper punishment of acts performed during a time of 'cold war' which, if a state of declared war existed, would be treasonable."

This is the first time that a committee of Congress has formally recognized that treason can occur when there is no state of declared war, and that it can be so damaging to the United States as to affect the nation's capacity successfully to fight a "hot war."

'Cold War' Costs Billions

The "cold war" currently is costing the taxpayers of the United States billions of dollars a year. America is trying to win friends throughout the world and to thwart the malicious purposes of Communist imperialism. Already one "hot war" has resulted from the tensions of the "cold war." This occurred in Korea from 1950 to 1953. More than 136,000 American boys were casualties in that war. Those killed numbered 33,629.

Today the Communists are stirring up trouble throughout the world. They are active in North Africa, the Middle East, Southeast Asia and Latin America. They are fighting against American policies and programs, and dangerous situations are being created that could bring on a "hot war."

Under such circumstances, should any American citizen be assisting the Communists—giving them "aid and comfort"? The exact wording of the Constitution on the subject is as follows:

"Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

This issue, it will be noted, is presented in two forms. While treason consists of "levying war," equally important is the statement that separately it also may consist of "adhering to the enemies" of the United States.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

J. Ralph Granara, a not-too-proper Bostonian writing on the mayor's letterhead, from a social background of the waterfront, has endorsed violent physical repartee between cops and joyous vigilantes who battle for the Lord on one hand, and the hordes of delinquency on the other. Mr. Granara craves the privilege of this forum for a rough-hewn discourse in favor of chastity, chivalry and the inexpressible satisfaction of virtue incarnate towering over the horizontal hoodlum. In the absence of objection he will have the floor as follows:

"I grew up in a section circled by the docks that berthed tramp steamers from all over the world and next door to the Navy Yard. Each section of the district had gang fights with our fists and it was not our way to put the boots to a down opponent or resort to any club, knife or filed-down belt buckle. Innocent bystanders were included in our galas only by invitation from a qualified combatant and damage to property was purely incidental and very seldom.

"There was a bully in each gang and it was my fortune to fall foul of one. My father, a man of majestic honor, and impressive indignation, on my mother's protest, made me wage combat and we fought two hours on a lumber wharf. We were about 13. We were a bloody mess at the end but neither he nor any other bothered me again.

"We sometimes stepped out of line and the cop on the beat would let fly some backhanders. he usually would tell the old man, and we got two lickings instead of one with no editorial lamentations over police brutality. Nobody ever sued the city for anything any cop ever did to any brat of our set.

"Out of that jungle came some of the most distinguished men of our glorious Republic including clerics named Butch, Duke, Flip and The Deacon. I saw The Deacon leave helpless on the ground one of the toughest fighters in the district with his jaw broken in two places, his nose flattened and numerous teeth missing. This fresh guy had cracked out of turn to a couple of nice girls. The Deacon told us well on his way to be a prince of the church."

"Your own proposal of bodily violence will bring outcries from public leaders who encourage young storm troopers to ever more wanton abuse of the well-behaved. But violence will put down violence if we always bear in mind and honor the precept of Captain Barnes of the Chicago police that cops are paid to win fights, not lose them.

"A few years ago a gang of teenage bums congregated near my home, respecting nobody and least of all the real nice respectable girls of that section. Twice my own two teenage daughters were targets of their dirty language. Twice I warned them, to be answered with language which caused my cheeks to blanch with mortification. The third time, I drove downtown to a gym where I enlisted three partisans. Returning, three veterans of numerous waterfront disorders accepted with pleasure my invitation to proceedings. We arrived in two cars and with no protocol the slugging began. We laid low six and the rest took it on the danger. The entire exercise was over all too soon. As time has gone by these young men have accumulated civility, manners and a chivalrous respect for members of the opposing gender. They will change a tire or wash my car and they always call me 'Mister'."

"I am persuaded that I and my friends diverted these worthy boys from prison and degradation. All of them are married now, save two, and have pretty good jobs, and one to whom I paid my special courtesies in the combat looks like a very good natural welterweight. He jabs like a pile-driver, he is split higher than a basketball player and I am trying to cure a tendency to chin himself on left hooks. I keep telling him what Dempsey did to Sharkey that night in the Yankee Stadium. But this generation is brain-washed. He says who is Dempsey?"

"Give me a hundred young, tough cops with a sprinkling of football men, boxers and combat soldiers, in squads of five in 20 cars, and I will cure delinquency in any city the size of Boston. Give me a few more of the same and I will pacify New York."

"The time has come to give the bum's rush to the hysterical fakers who have been protecting these killers. Let us meet the enemy on his own terms on his own grounds and break many beaks and jaws and scatter a few teeth."

"I am Sincerely Colonel Ralph Granara, Press Secretary and Assistant Director, Mayor's Office, City of Boston, City Hall.

THE FACTS CONCERNING THE PICKETING AT MONTGOMERY WARD'S STORE

The Ward's store in Kingston, N. Y. has been picketed and handbills have been distributed in the community against Wards at the orders of the National Officers of the Retail Clerks Union headquartered in Washington, D. C. Our employees did not initiate the action. The facts are:

Our employees are not on strike.

All employees are at work despite the picketing.

The pickets are not employees of our store.

This Union does not represent our employees.

Wards policy is to pay wages which are at least as high as those paid by its competitors in the cities where its stores are located. During the past few years Wards has materially improved the working conditions of its employees. Wages have been increased substantially. An improved contributory insurance plan was started two years ago and a new pension plan for employees was adopted a year ago at a cost of more than three million dollars annually to the Company. Wards is continuing its efforts to make its stores an ever better and more attractive place to work.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels advanced in a generally higher stock market early this afternoon. Dealings were fairly active.

Key stocks rose from fractions to more than a point. An assortment of small losers peppered the list.

Youngstown Sheet rose around two points, making the best showing of the leading steel shares. U.S. Steel was up about a point.

Financial sources reported an increasingly brighter outlook for steel production and orders. The price of steel scrap was higher.

Although the market was concerned about the French crisis, the general economic background included some encouraging factors, including fairly good demand for copper at the newly raised smelter prices.

Shelph Dodge rose about a point and Kennecott, selling ex-dividend, more than that.

The major motor shares made no progress. Leading rail shares were a hedge-podge of small gains and losses.

Amerasia, a big domestic producer, gained about two points but the international oils showed little price movement.

Lorillard was up about a point as was Zenith.

U.S. government bonds drifted lower.

the garage. The others took to their heels and were finally apprehended by Kingston state police and Thruway police in a nearby woods.

Held for Grand Jury

Cpl. Shannon and Trooper Charles Teelon, BCI, acting on a "tip," drove into the station shortly after midnight, just after the break. Before doing so, however, they called the barracks by radio and a second patrol car with Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and David Wachtel dashed to the scene. Thruway police at the Kingston interchange were also called and dispatched a car with Troopers James Kaljian, Eaton and Mitchell.

The three youths were arrested on charges of burglary third degree. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the town of Ulster they were committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

Nervous Bandit

Schwartz told state police after the attempted burglary on the evening of April 20 that a nervous "seedy-looking" young fellow about 19 years old suddenly entered the ticket booth carrying what appeared to be a .22 caliber rifle.

The manager had just finished counting the evening receipts. Schwartz told troopers from Kingston, Ellenville and Highland and representatives of the Kingston Police Department and the Ulster County sheriff's office at the time that he said to the youth that there was no money. The young man, wearing a white handkerchief over the lower part of his face, insisted, however, that he had seen Schwartz counting it.

Runs Away

Schwartz kept talking to the man, attempting to dissuade him, but the youth, described by the complainant as having straight blond hair, appeared highly nervous. As he twitched the rifle toward the manager it appeared to go off, he told police.

Trooper Richard Ryan of the Kingston station said the rifle may have misfired as the trigger was pulled. Schwartz described a kind of sharp fizzing sound. Apparently frightened at the turn of events, the man took to his heels and disappeared into the pine trees near the booth.

Some $50 in cash and a $1,000 diamond ring were taken from D-D's Drive-In some time during the night of Friday, April 18.

Trooper Wachtel reported at the time that the entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass and opening a rear window.

Albert DiDonna, proprietor, told state police he had left the ring in the refreshment stand by mistake.

The burglars got some cash taken from a cigar box and picked open several coin machines with knives. Wachtel described the burglary as a real "amateur job." No cash had been left in the cash register, he said.

On the same night an attempted robbery was also reported at Joe's Esso Station, also on Route 9-W not far from D-D's. A rear window was broken out in that instance also but the station had apparently not been entered.

Trooper Ellsworth said today that the three men used a 1949 green sedan owned by Johnson in all of the breaks.

Car Skids into Pole

A 1951 sedan operated by Nicholas Hermina, 34, of 298 Clinton Avenue, skidded into a utility pole early Sunday morning when Hermina attempted to avoid another vehicle at the intersection of Route 209 and the Plank road. Napanoch, Hermina was proceeding south on Route 209, making a right turn into the Plank road, when an unknown vehicle also attempted to make the turn into the same road. Hermina applied his brakes and skidded.

Stresses Unity

In Watertown the Jefferson County GOP committee adopted a resolution Friday urging the state executive committee to stay on the sidelines at this stage of the race for the party nomination.

By Henry A. Wise, another Mahoney pal.

"Unity is essential to our party whose first aim must be to win," the Jefferson resolution stated. The county committee is headed by Henry A. Wise, another Mahoney pal.

The resolution was enacted in the wake of reports that the state group might endorse candidates for governor and senator prior to the nominating convention in Rochester Aug. 25-26.

Meanwhile, New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner is the choice of Democratic county chairman for the party's nomination for Senator, according to a poll taken by the Buffalo Courier-Express.

The Courier-Express said Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan of New York City and James A. Farley, former U. S. Postmaster general, won equal support from the chairman after Wagner.

The newspaper said it had queried all 62 party chairman for the poll, which was published in its Sunday edition. The newspaper did not reveal how many responded.

Earlier Friday, another group of 1,500 students tossed eggs at Frank C. Baldwin, the dean of men.

Saturday afternoon, Baldwin announced the suspension of the four students.

One was J. Kirk Sale of Ithaca, the son of Cornell Professor William Sale.

The others were Richard Farina of Brooklyn, Robert W. Perry of Bay Harbor, Fla., and David W. Seidler of Great Neck, L. I.

Sale is a senior and the rest are juniors. All are enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The Men's Judiciary Board, a student disciplinary group, is to review the suspensions tomorrow. The four could be expelled.

The full student council also is scheduled to meet tomorrow.

Kellogg said he had been assured by university officials that the suspension of the four would not become a part of their university records if they were later cleared.

Meanwhile, all was quiet on campus yesterday.

INVESTORS NEED PERSPECTIVE

Managing Uncle Sam's finances is one of the biggest and most important jobs in the world. He is an economic balance wheel. To handle his vast national and international financial responsibilities properly, he must raise by taxation or borrowing about $80,000,000,000 a year.

Blood does not come out of stones; neither do taxes of 80 billions come out of a deflationary economy. The seeds of both inflation and deflation are abundantly present in our country.

And those officers of the government who are in charge of fiscal policy must always set the stage for prosperity, making every effort to prevent inflation or deflation from getting an upper hand.

It is a tough, exacting job. Politically, the people of America would not countenance deflation in all of its forms. They want and demand prosperity, regardless of its inflationary origins and bases: If high prices, wages, and costs are the required elements of economic well-being, they will take them.

The members of Congress and the Administration are alert to present day conditions. Never before have the officers of our government been more solicitous of the country's economic welfare than now. Prosperity is the very central theme in the speeches and discussions at Washington.

Fiscal policy there concerns everybody. What is that, anyhow? Well, it centers about three things: income and outgo of the United States and the way the $280,000,000,000 debt is handled.

As I said in the beginning of this piece, this is a tremendous job. Deflation brings on recession which in turn can produce a depression. Consequently, every thing must be done to avoid a lengthy recession.

Measures now being talked about to bring the country out of present economic doldrums involve tax reduction. Unquestionably, millions of people and hundreds of corporations would be greatly benefited if their tax payments were cut. This is one ace-in-the-hole that Uncle Sam has to promote prosperity.

Then he has on his side a banking system that is adapted to head off a dangerous inflationary boom of a crippling deflationary recession. It is the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Reserve Banks. Through this system and these banks, the supplies of money can be regulated.

The 12 Federal Reserve Banks in America today have assets of more than 50 billions of dollars. And by the skillful management of these assets, money can be made expensive or cheap in keeping with the necessities of the items.

And, of course, Uncle Sam's servants can always spend money if such action is required to produce prosperity. The voting people in America would always sanction unbalanced budgets if red figures were required for good times rather than balanced budgets and hard times.

What does all of this add up to?

Just this: if a prolonged recession should threaten economic America, inflationary powers would be invoked even though the purchasing power of the dollar would be weakened.

And were this to happen, every last investor in America with most of his money in dollar form would suffer. Consequently, whether America has a recession or an abundant prosperity, it is and will be for a long long time advisable for him to buy and hold, regardless of price gyrations some equities of our country's leading corporations.

GOP Women Urged to Recognize Challenge Of Today's World by Noted Woman Attorney

BY DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

"There is no task which the women of any community cannot accomplish," Republican women were told at their annual luncheon held Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The speaker was Miss Ruth Miner, noted attorney, former judge and Republican leader in Albany County.

The event marked the annual luncheon-meeting of Ulster County Women's Republican Club over which Mrs. Bernhardt Kramer, president, presided.

In a forceful, informative address, Miss Miner charged, "we are too complacent—too content—too satisfied." Outlining the channels of action to be taken by Republican women in their vigilance for good government, Miss Miner left no stone unturned when she traced Republican achievements in the State of New York.

Speaking of the challenge facing Republican women today, Miss Miner said, "the challenge to us is not that we shall never fall—but that come what may, there is but one emblem for us and that is the American Eagle."

A standing ovation was accorded Miss Miner at the conclusion of her address. Her determination and faith in the Republican party, which is so strong, rubbed off on the club members and was evidenced by their prolonged applause.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Frederick H. Stang, second vice president.

Mrs. Leslie Hotelling, first vice president, welcomed the membership.

PAYING FOR OUR MISTAKES

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just discovered that I sent the wrong present to the wrong person. I don't know how it happened, but it has and I am in a dither over it. One present was of considerable value and the other one a very trifling one. The person who was to have received the trifling present was sent the expensive one. I would like to know if I could properly write to this person and explain what happened and ask her please to return it?

Answer: I am sorry but you can't ask for the return of the expensive present. You can, and probably should, explain your mistake to the person who received the trifling present and buy her a better one in exchange for it.

Caring for the Groom's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter's future in-laws, who live in another city, are coming here several days before the wedding. They are complete strangers to me and I would like to know what my obligations are toward them. Is it necessary that I give a party to introduce them to my friends and relatives?

Answer: You invite them to your house for a meal or at least for tea, and in addition you do whatever you can to make their stay in your city as pleasant as possible.

Two Rings to Choose From

Dear Mrs. Post: I am to graduate from college shortly and expect to receive my college ring in the not too distant future. Up to the present time I have been wearing my high-school ring. I would like to know if I should discard this ring when I receive my college ring, or would it be proper to wear both of them?

Answer: I do not think you should wear both at the same time, and suggest that you wear the one that means the most to you.

Details for a home wedding including flowers, clothes and the ceremony are included in leaflet E-8, "Today's Typical Wedding." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Overanxious Mother Pushes Shy Child Into Popularity

Mrs. C's 10-year-old is timid with other children. When her mother invites them over, she hangs back until they ask her to play.

Mrs. C. writes, "She is acutely conscious of a mole on her arm and says the other children dislike her because of it. A friend tells me I am too anxious to have her popular. Do you agree?"

Mrs. C., it doesn't matter a whoop whether you think you're too anxious for your daughter's popularity. What matters is that YOU think you are—or your friend's opinion wouldn't be disturbing you.

Why are you so anxious for it?

Well, we usually experience great anxiety when we cannot do things we believe we ought to be able to do.

You Mrs. C. obviously believe that you should be able to make your child the life of the party as readily as you whip up a cake mix.

The fact that popularity is not essential to her happiness has probably never occurred to you. The fact that shy people require time to develop self-assurance probably hasn't occurred to you, either.

For it's the peculiar hell of overanxious people to ignore any facts that limit their power to pass miracles.

So when they have a shy child they can't turn into an overnight social sensation, they have tantrums. They start tormenting themselves with anxiety for their failure to do what they can't do just as a frustrated toddler will bang his head against his crib because he can't climb out of it.

Unfortunately, they will torment their shy child with the same cruel and unrealistic demands they make upon themselves.

They will push and pry at her to be properly aggressive, not because they are concerned with the child, but because her aggressiveness may produce the popularity that will enable them to tolerate themselves.

They'll invite neighbors' children over, not because they enjoy having them around, but because the children's presence may pass that miracle—and the shy child will suddenly stop being shy.

It doesn't work like that. Mrs. C.'s daughter will develop self-acceptance as she sees her mother accept herself as she is—guilty and innocent, good and bad, not needing any miracles.

If she's given this example, she'll soon start liking herself as she is, including that mole, that fault, that imperfection on her arm.

Kelly-Rodgers Reunion

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Kelly, actor-dancer-director, and Richard Rodgers, composer, are having a reunion. Kelly has been engaged by Rodgers and his lyricist partner, Oscar Hammerstein II, to direct their musical "The Flower Drum Song," due on Broadway next fall. The two last had a stage relationship in 1940, when Kelly portrayed the title role in "Pal Joey," by Rodgers and the late Lorenz Hart.

Annual Hadassah Meeting Is Set For Tonight at 8:30

Kingston Hadassah members will put on their best bibs and tuckers Monday evening for their first annual desert-coffee meeting taking place at 8:30 p. m. at the Hotel Kingston.

The meeting, regularly held in Temple Emanuel's social hall, is scheduled for the hotel this month because a gala program has been planned, announced Mrs. Melvin Navy, program chairman for May. The name of the person awarded the $600 diamond and pearl bracelet will be announced that evening.

Highlighting the program will be an hilarious operetta starring Hadassah's Gilbert and Sullivan players, Mrs. David Kline, Mrs. Arthur London, Mrs. Sam Levine, Miss Sadie Lutzin, Mrs. Sidney Pauker, Mrs. Navy and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky. Musical accompaniment will be furnished by Mrs. George Baron, a concert pianist. The plot concerns four presidential hopefuls who take their troubles to a psychiatrist when each decides she wants to become Hadassah president.

Mrs. Murray Fletcher, president, announced that dessert and coffee will be served prior to the meeting and the program. Following the dessert, a business meeting will be called to order and committee reports given. The success of Eye Bank Day will be made known and delegates to the recent Spring Conference at the Granite Hotel will give their reports.

Many Hadassah members attended the stirring and inspiring Salute to Israel program, honoring the infant democracy on its tenth birthday. Mrs. Fletcher was among the principal speakers that evening, as were Mayor Edwin F. Radel and the Rev. John Stanley Grauel.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

West Saugerties
Fire Guts Upper Floor of Cottage

A fire of undetermined origin Sunday afternoon gutted the second floor of a summer cottage at the foot of West Saugerties mountain off the Platteville Road, and one fireman was reported injured.

Former Fire Chief Howard Garrison of Centerville, riding one of the Centerville Fire Company pumper trucks suffered injury to his leg and wrist when the truck was moving into position to fight the blaze, according to Fire Chief Cornelius Mower.

He was taken to the office of Dr. Hugh Chidester of Main Street, Saugerties, for treatment. The two-story frame cottage was one of a number in the bungalow colony owned and operated by William Renner, who was asleep in another cottage when the fire broke out, Chief Mower reported.

Chief Mower said that the unoccupied cottage was completely gutted in the second floor and considerable smoke and water damage was evident in the ground floor level.

According to the fire chief no cause for the blaze could be determined. Renner told the chief that the electricity had not been turned on for the summer season.

Roy Clark, who operates a lawn mower repair service from his home nearby discovered the fire and phoned in the alarm.

Two pumper trucks of Centerville Fire Company responded to the alarm about 2:30 p. m.

YOUTH LEARNS ABOUT THE WORLD—Cynthia and Patrick McColgan, who recently returned from a visit to Siam with their family, locate the country on the globe during story hour time at the Kingston City Public Library. Children's Library Receives Drawings
From Noted Illustrator, Miss Marcia Brown

Miss Marcia Brown of New York city, noted illustrator and author of children's books and former Kingston resident, was special guest at the Kingston Library children's story hour Saturday morning. Miss Brown presented four original drawings from her books to Mrs. William Markle, children's librarian, to be used in the new children's room. Approximately 40 children were present.

The regular story hour featured young Patrick McColgan, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Raichle, 65 Spruce Street, who recently returned from a year and a half in Thailand or Siam.

Miss Brown who was visiting her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence E. Brown, 149 Harwich Street, is the holder of a Caldecott medal, equivalent to an "Oscar" in the illustrating field. She won the medal in 1954 for her drawings in "Cinderella." Several of her other books have been close runner-ups for the award.

Her latest book, "Felix," an original story about a little boy and his cat in Venice, Italy, will be published by Scribner's this fall. Material for the book was gathered last winter when Miss Brown spent seven months in Venice.

Eight of her books, all of which are profusely illustrated especially for children, are in the local library. They include Miss Brown's versions of "Cinderella," "Dick Whittington and His Cat," "The Flying Carpet," "Puss in Boots" (translated from the French), "Stone Soup." In addition are three original stories, "The Little Carousell," "Henry Fisherman," and "Skipper John's Cook Book."

Three of the drawings presented to the library Saturday morning are from "Dick Whittington and His Cat," and another from "The Flying Carpet."

Following her graduation from Kingston High School and Albany State Teachers College, Miss Brown taught English at Cornwall High School. Later she joined the staff of the New York Public Library where she specialized in children's books and story telling. Her work became so well known that she lectured before library associations throughout the United States.

BRIDGE

Irregular Bid Leads to Woe

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the top players of the country get together for rubber bridge almost anything can and does happen. Every one is so anxious to fix his opponents that many bids are made that have no place in a proper bridge game. Sometimes they work and sometimes they don't.

Today's hand shows one that didn't.

North started the ball rolling with his irregular no-trump response. He didn't want his non-vulnerable opponents to get together on spades if they had that suit.

East stuck in a cream puff double and South promptly redoubled. West bid a conservative two spades whereupon North and South worked their way into five diamonds.

West doubled and North redoubled and it was up to West to pick his opening lead. He studied very carefully and finally came up with the winner. He led the queen of hearts.

This lead effectively cooked South's goose. He ducked on gen-

Regard DeGaulle
Now as France's
Central FigureBy EDDY GILMORE
COLOMBEY - LES-DEUX-EG-LISE, France (P)—Across the dusty road from where Gen. Charles De Gaulle sits awaiting a call to lead France, an old sign reads:

"No beggars allowed in this village."

Colombey - Les - Deux-Eglise Colombey of the two churches has erupted into the news from centuries of rural slumber.

Well aware that the 67-year-old general is their first citizen, many villagers now regard him as the central figure of France, if not the universe.

There are dissenters, of course, among the population's 400 souls. De Gaulle's house was converted into a home from a brewery about 50 years ago.

The general bought it in 1920 when he was a young cavalry officer stationed at nearby Metz.

General Lives Quietly
The general and his family live quietly and few of the peasants know the general.

"He shakes our hands twice a year," said one old man, "on July 14 (Bastille Day, France national day) and on Nov. 11."

On the two holidays De Gaulle usually makes a short speech at the veterans monument.

Ask any villager how De Gaulle spends his time, and he'll reply: "Writing his memoirs. He's always writing his memoirs."

Since the austere general offered to lead France out of its present difficulties, security police have appeared in the sleepy village.

They stand in the road before the village gates, in the fields about the house, and beside the hedges and fences that hem it in. Three hundred yards away at the village hall 30 guards are stationed, on duty around the clock.

Some villagers think the French government has placed the security police around De Gaulle as much to watch him as to guard him.

Leader Honored
NASHVILLE, Tenn., (P)—The Methodist Church has named the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, of Bronxville, N. Y., long-time leader in the church cooperative movement, to receive the church's 1958 "Upper Room" citation for leadership in world Christian fellowship.

Gifts of Fashion
NEW YORK, (P)—An unusual sewing project has been undertaken by Lutheran women across the country. Under sponsorship of Lutheran World Relief, Inc., they're making Arab-style garments so their clothing gifts to Arab refugees will fit the fashion in their areas.

Vacation Plans

The seashore or the mountains? A long motor trip or a cottage at the lake. These are the dilemmas facing millions of families across the nation this month. How will your family decide?

The older girls want to go to a resort where unattached men abound. Your swimming champ is interested only in water. The boys have mapped out a 2,000 mile tour of national parks. Little sister gets car sick. Mother would like a vacation from meals and dishes. Who will win?

But wait just a minute. What about father? Anybody ask what he wants? The youngsters will survive a disappointment, but the father's vacation could almost be considered a matter of life or death.

Name almost any of the major diseases. Then look at the vital statistics: It's the man in the middle years of life who seems to be hardest hit. Take TB, for example. Almost twice as many men as women have TB and the proportion of deaths from the disease among men is even higher. Why should this be? We know that a healthy person can usually fight an invasion of tuberculosis germs to a standstill. It looks as if we aren't taking good enough care of dad's health.

This year why not plan a vacation for the father and breadwinner of the family? What kind of recreation will recreate him? What will give him the kind of rest from the job he needs to build up his health for the year ahead. Ask him what he really wants to do. The shock of being considered won't hurt him.

This year let's invest our vacation in the future of the "very important person," father.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I asked about Victory Gardens. I do not remember if they were during the first World War or during the depression of 1929 and so on. Perhaps some of the readers remember and can give details as where they were and how much land was loaned out for the summer and other information. Those were the days of nickel seed packages. Nowadays the pictures on the seeds seem just as colorful, but fewer seeds and so much more expensive. Some I notice are 25 cents a package or more. Still home grown vegetables in our Ulster County soil should be worth the effort for those who desire to spend some time outdoors working in the garden. Perhaps once again such land can be made available and protected for those who desire to spend their money and efforts making these gardens. I think there is still time for some planting.

A number of my readers have informed me of the item on the Mary Powell that was in the New York Times, Monday, May 12th, 1958. The item is written by Meyer Berger who speaks of "the Mary Powell steaming between Rondout (Kingston) and New York City and being the fastest thing on the Hudson for almost all of her 56 years. The Powell's paddlewheels could breast the tide at 24 to 25 knots and even today not many river crafts can do better," he writes.

He tells about the city folks and rural people boarding her for one day family excursions, with shoe-boxes or hampers filled with boiled eggs, fresh to-matos, homemade apple pie and sandwiches which always tasted so much better on the water than they did home.

Although I have asked often about a partial list at least, of the famous people who rode on the Mary Powell, no doubt the Captains Anderson must have had such a list or a signature book. This item tells about J. P. Morgan often going aboard to sit on her deck between lower Manhattan and Highland Falls. General Grant had been a passenger. When she was finally broken up for scrap in 1917, her two gilded flagpole balls were saved for Mr. Morgan's Highland Falls estate gateposts. Mr. Berger plainly mentions that the Queen's engine heart is in the Ford Museum at Dearborn, Mich.

The Mary Powell was all decked in fresh paint for the dedication of the Statue of Liberty. She led the sea parade that marked the centennial celebration of George Washington's first inauguration. She stood off shore in reverence on the day when Grant's Tomb was dedicated. That famous vessel's home port was here in Rondout. Instead of making a museum item out of her which would have brought thousands of visitors over the 40 years, we have only pictures of her, and some items salvaged by collectors and perhaps some small models here and there.

Alfred Van Santvoord Olcott, former Day Line president who loved even the memory of the Mary Powell, made certain at least that her bell should last forever. On Monday, May 12, 1958, he was to turn it over to the New York Historical Society at 77th Street and Central Park West for a place of honor in the society's Port of New York Gallery, that is the reason for the illustrated article in the Times. That clear-tone Menely bell was set up at Indian Point, after the Mary Powell was dismantled and there sounded last calls for excursion departures. Later it was used for same purpose at the Manhattan Hudson River Day Line Pier.

Novel Dramatized

NEW YORK (P)—Carl Reiner, TV actor and chief comic aide of Sid Caesar, is providing the plot for an upcoming Broadway show. Stage rights to Reiner's novel, "Enter Laughing," have been obtained by David Merrick, one of the Main Stem's busiest producers. The dramatization is to be done by Joseph Stein and Will Glickman. The story concerns the trials and tribulations of a stage struck youth of 17.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That it really does take money to make more money... Right now it costs the federal government a dime to make 100 pennies and six dollars to make $500 worth of 50-cent pieces.

That a spoonful of diesel fuel oil in a locomotive will carry a ton of freight one mile... Well, downhill anyway.

That some Canadian cinemas now are thoughtfully providing double seats... for courting couples.

That the sparrow hawk is misnamed... It actually eats far more grasshoppers than it does sparrows.

That there is still plenty of big game hunting left in crowded America... in the last 10 years more than 600,000 buck deer were killed in California alone.

That although machines don't lay eggs, some two million dollars worth of hen fruit is now sold by U.S. vending machines each year.

That people in Chicago and St. Paul consume more fresh pork per capita than the residents of any other major American cities.

That one man can tend 40 milking cows on a typical U.S. dairy farm... But in Russia, where the farms are less mechanized, a husky milkmaid can care for only 10 to 12 animals.

That U.S. newspapers publish more than 300 million individual classified ads each year... and news-hungry Americans now spend a billion dollars annually to read their daily free press.

That you'd probably flunk a TV quiz if you were asked to name a half dozen of the most important vegetable diseases... Here they are: Cucumber mosaic, lettuce yellows, tomato early blight, tomato blossom end rot, cabbage club root and bean blight.

That the teeth of elephants continue to grow throughout their lifetime... But isn't this true of rabbits and squirrels, too?

That Bob Bobo of Black Springs, Ark., spells his name with only two letters.

That Sinclair Lewis gave this insight into human nature: "There are two insults which no human will endure: The assertion that he hasn't a sense of humor, and the doubly impertinent assertion that he has never known trouble."

That one way to keep a small child from dawdling over his meals is this: Light a small birthday candle and bet him he can't finish what's on his plate before the candle goes out.

That the porpoise does have a purpose... Its oil is used to lubricate delicate precision instruments.

That it was President Wilson who observed: "A few people who achieve fame grow—most of them swell."

By FRANK TRIPP

Have you ever communed with the primly posed cabinet photos in your family's plush covered picture gallery—Mom's mute record of a peaceful era?

Few of the fading pictures mean anything to you, Grandma, great aunts and uncles, a neighbor of your childhood are there, but only the strange hairdos, queer clothing and flowing mustaches, that give you a laugh, distinguished most of them one from the other.

You turn a page and stop. There are mother and dad. They are dressed as funny as the others, but you don't notice that. You just see their dear faces—and you wish they could speak.

YOU STOP there a long time. In memory you see dad setting his alarm clock, raising the window and snuggling under his comfy crazy quilt.

"Good night Liss," he says. "Good night my boy."

Then you are on your knees at your cotside; your mother's arms are around you, and you are saying together:

"Our Father who are in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth, as it is in heaven."

As you turn the page and close the old album, you feel mother's kiss and hear her say "sleep tight my darling."

All is love and peace in that humble little home of your childhood.

YOU'RE A grown man now, with grown children, even great-grandchildren.

You wonder "why do people search beyond their own obligation to their children for solution of youth problems and delinquency?"

It wasn't policemen, laws and coddling youth courts that kept you straight.

The answer is between the covers of that family album—the stability pictured there, the character, respect, love and reverence.

Then comes shame that often you've jeered at the old album as sort of a family joke book.

Shame that greed made you too busy, too worldly, too proud to kneel beside a little bed and pray with your children. "Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven."

Guilty realization that you robbed your own of strengthening memories that only a parent can give—turned your duty over to law and teachers.

BREATHES THERE a wayward worth saving who could recall a mother's prayers at the moment of his sin and not be influenced by the memory?

All cannot relive the scenes pictured here; all have not experienced them, but most men had a mother who loved them.

All who go astray do not come from dismal, loveless homes. Often the most vicious had tender care, yet thoughtless, worldly parents, trying to live without God.

THE MOST precious heirlooms that I own are my mother's old album and her Bible. I've read again and again the passages on paper soiled by her frequent stops to ponder them.

They all seem aimed at me and her hope for my well-being. They were the prayers that she made as my life unfolded.

They must have been answered for her sake. For plunging, headlong through reckless

Chilly Theater Problems

NEW YORK (P)—Putting on the heat backstage during a spell of late spring chill caused problems at two Broadway shows.

An actor in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" brought firemen running when he lit a fire in a dressing room wash basin that sent smoke wafting through the wings.

At "Sunrise at Campobello," the management sent over some electric heaters.

It seemed a fine idea until one was plugged in—and blew a fuse. The warmers operated only on alternating current, and the theater has direct current.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—Who's to blame for the rise in the cost of living? Could it be you?

Management tells you it's the steady rise in labor wage scales that has brought about inevitable increases in the price of consumer goods.

Labor leaders tell you that it's management's zeal to turn in each year to the stockholders a report showing higher earnings, and in most cases, higher dividends.

Merchants say it's the customer's demand for more service, for more prepared and prepackaged goods to cut down work at home.

Economists with long memories and few political connections have argued that the price rise is pure classical inflation—the government has pumped too much money into the economy from the war years on, and prices and wages have taken the normal course: up.

A few stockholders have wondered if all the bonuses paid to top executives haven't played a part in the high cost of business operation.

But most of the time the lowly white collar worker has escaped notice.

Now some Federal Reserve Board figures raise doubts about an old theory: that the blue collar worker's wages have been soaring and the white collar salary has been lagging. Of late the effect of all this increasingly expensive paper work on total operating costs is getting a closer look in many companies.

An analysis of Federal Reserve figures by Fortune magazine, which aims largely at management readership, says that total salary payments to white collar workers has increased at a much faster pace than the more publicized ones to blue collar production workers.

The figures cited show that non production personnel—engineers, scientists, draftsmen, administrative workers—have increased 60 per cent in the last ten years and their salaries have gone from one fourth of the total manufacturing labor costs then to one third now.

The cited figures record their salary payments as rising 37 per cent in the last four years while wage payments to the blue collar workers have averaged seven per cent.

Productivity, or unit cost, is the measure of goods produced per man hour of labor. On the basis of production worker man hours, productivity has risen at an annual rate of 3.7 per cent in the last 10 years. But add in the salaries of non production workers and productivity has risen at the annual rate of 2.9 per cent.

The white collar worker has some ready answers for this. Technical advances in industry make his role ever more important. Rising living costs make salary boosts essential to maintain his standard of living. High taxes take an increasing slice of any pay raise he may have had. And getting out of the squirrel cage—salary, prices, taxes—without lasting scars isn't easy either, as retired white collar workers know.

French Are Still Politically Immature

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The root of the troubles of France, once again in crisis, is in its split personality. It has a bagful of splits.

It has an ancient political history but in 1958 it is still a political juvenile and can't adjust.

For Frenchmen freedom is a one-way street. Freedom is for them—not for the colonial peoples under their control.

This cradle of European liberty has never stopped being colonial minded.

In their insistence upon maximum freedom for themselves they have operated through a mess of political parties which have made every postwar government unstable, paralyzed the nation and brought them to the edge of chaos.

And the French, once the masters of Europe, cannot get used to the idea that in the evolution of history they have become only a second-rate power at best. They still dream of glory.

Out of their chaos, their dreams of glory, their desire to hold what they have—in this case their Algerian colony—they look more and more not to freedom but to authority.

That authority is represented to them now in the person of one man: Charles de Gaulle.

Desire for De Gaulle
The French pride themselves on being practical minded but the growing devotion to and the desire for De Gaulle is in the realm of mysticism.

The French do not know—because De Gaulle has never said—exactly what he'll do or what direction he will take.

If they choose him as the master of their fate they are relying on hope and not on a stated policy.

He has not stated his policy—he has not even clearly said whether he wants to be a dictator—except to indicate he wants plenty of power.

The freedom-minded French held on to their Middle East possessions until they could hold no longer. Their power in the Middle East is zero now.

They held Indochina until in World War II they were forced out by the Japanese. It was the British who had to go back into Indochina after the war and hold it for the French until they could resume control.

They showed no evidence of giving freedom to the Vietnamese, training neither an administrator nor an officer corps which would have been necessary to run a new government.

In the end the Indochinese nationalists, led by the Communists, revolted and forced the French to give up their hold on the country altogether.

Lost All But Algeria

They lost their grip on what they held in North Africa except for Algeria. They made the mistake of trying to invade Egypt until ordered by the United States and the Soviet Union to get out.

To the rebels in the last stronghold of French colonialism—Algeria—the French said no to freedom. In short, they had learned nothing from all their disasters.

In an effort to crush these rebels, France had to pull its forces out of the NATO defense of Europe and send them to Algeria, and it still hasn't been able to win there.

Bit by bit France has been growing smaller, less powerful. The French, despite all their experience in politics, are too politically immature to face that realization.

They have now had 25 governments since World War II. What they face, if they pick De Gaulle, is something they can't even predict.

George Washington, when a 22-year-old surveyor, began the idea that resulted in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

Farmers Are Warned Of Anti-Trust Laws

POYNTELLE, Pa. (AP)—A dairy cooperative official said today that farmers who ally with labor unions in bargaining for fair prices could be found in violation of federal anti-trust laws.

In a speech prepared for a regional meeting of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, J. Thomas Cribbs, Eastern's president, said:

"There is also the strong possibility that farmers combining with a labor union, or other outside organizations, could be found guilty of conspiracy if the result of the joining together had an effect on prices."

Cribbs told the cooperative's officers in this Wayne County area that cooperatives, not unions, are the proper bargaining agents to fix fair prices for farm produce.

"Neither labor unions nor cooperatives," Cribbs said, "should encroach upon each other's defined sphere of activity and legal rights."

Matter of FACT

The use of military camouflage is ancient; it is known to have been employed by Genghis Khan. The British began the individual use of camouflage in India, about the middle of the 19th century. They used earth-colored uniforms instead of the brilliant reds and blues which then were popular.

Blast Destroys Radar Plane

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass.

(AP)—A board of officers today investigated a series of explosions which destroyed a 2½-million-dollar plane in five minutes.

The crew of 14 escaped from the blazing RC121 Super Constellation Sunday with nothing worse than rope burns.

Three members of the base fire department, a civilian and two Air Force men suffered minor hurts in their successful battle to prevent the flames from spreading to other nearby craft on this Cape Cod base.

The first explosion shook the craft as it stood on the runway just before a pre-flight check preparatory to an active defense mission.

The RV121, sometimes called a flying radar laboratory, patrols the North Atlantic coast.

Its duties are coordinated with picketships and Texas towers.

This type of aircraft, base spokesmen said, has one of the best USAF safety records with more than 100,000 flying hours.

The accident was the first of its type at Otis.

Capt. Emil V. Busch of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., commanded the plane. First Lt. Joseph M. Haber of Newburgh, N. Y., was the copilot.

Two records were set at the meet. Jerry Sauschuck of Port Jervis broke by a comfortable margin the DUSO's discus mark with a heave of 146 feet one inch. Castoffs Have Big Day in NL

They're Fighting for 2nd in AL

Phillips Blanks Milwaukee, 1-0

Bob Rush Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four National League clubs — Milwaukee, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis — learned Sunday just how vicious the vengeance of a castoff can be.

Taylor Phillips, Sammy Taylor, Bob Rush, Bill Wright, Curtis Flood, Harvey Haddix and Steve Bilk were the men who gained sweet revenge.

Phillips, dealt by Milwaukee to Chicago last December, pitched the Cubs to a 1-0 victory over the Braves in the first game of a doubleheader. Catcher Taylor, involved in the deal that brought Rush from Chicago to Milwaukee, scored the only run of the game.

Then Rush softened the pain by pitching the Braves to a 5-2 victory over the Cubs in the nightcap.

Flood, traded by Cincinnati to St. Louis last winter, singled in the two runs that gave the Cardinals a 4-2 first-game triumph over the Redlegs. Wright, released by the Reds, quenched a bases-loaded, one-out threat in the seventh and went on to hurl hitless ball for 2-23 relief innings.

Haddix, traded away by St. Louis two years ago, pitched the Redlegs to a 7-4 second-game victory. Bilk, another ex-Card, ignited the Reds' four-run fourth inning with a home run.

Giants in Sweep
In the only other league action, the San Francisco Giants continued their amazing winning ways, sweeping a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 5-2 and 6-1.

The scheduled single game between Los Angeles and the Phillies in Philadelphia was rained out.

The New York Yankees continued their runaway of the American League race, knocking off Cleveland twice 6-1 and 6-3. Detroit twice whipped Washington, 6-3 and 7-2. Boston and Chicago split. The Red Sox won the opener 6-3 and the White Sox took the second 4-3. Ned Garver hurled Kansas City to a 4-0 victory over Baltimore.

A 15-minute rainout in the fifth inning of the opener featured the Giant-Pirate twin bill. The fracas started when Pittsburgh Pitcher Vernon Law sent Ruben Gomez, his rival pitcher, sprawling with a high pitch.

Plate Umpire Frank Dascoli warned Law and Pirate Manager Danny Murtagh dashed from the bench to intercede. He exchanged words with Gomez. The pitcher swung his bat, the manager swung his fists. Neither one connected.

Murtagh was ejected but not before both benches had emptied to the delight of the sellout crowd of 35,797.

Only UCAL Baseball Title Undecided in Final Week of Action

Marlboro and Wallkill Fight For Top Rung

BY TONY CORAPI
Freeman Sports Staff

The scholastic baseball picture is about crystal clear as action swings into its final week. The DUSO and Dutchess County race are pretty well settled, but the UCAL titleholder is still in doubt and could be ironed out after Tuesday's bill.

Saugerties High clinched the DCSLA Friday with a win over Roosevelt High, its seventh straight in the league and 11th overall. Poughkeepsie High after a couple of scares easily wrapped up its bunting, second straight, having been beaten only by Port Jervis' Bill Pepper.

Two Team Race

The fight for the UCAL is between Marlboro and Wallkill. Onteora had a chance until it lost a 6-3 verdict to last place Rondout Valley. That eliminated the Indians of becoming a triple winner, having previously won the football and basketball championships.

It looked for a while as if the Indians would do it, but they ran into a buzz-saw in the second half of the schedule. They won the first four and then lost that same number in succession.

Maroons Play Twice

The Maroons wind up their league slate with a pair of toughies. They are at Poughkeepsie today and are host to Middletown on Thursday.

Saugerties plays three times and will be out to preserve its spotless record. They are at home to Wappingers Falls in the last league fray today and then encounter the Maroons the following day. On Thursday they battle Onteora Central. All games are at home.

Wallkill Leads UCAL

Marlboro appears to have the better of the tailend of the schedule. They play New Paltz Tuesday while Wallkill is at Boiceville to meet the skidding Onteora Indians. But the Wheeler lads may come out of their doldrums and give the contenders trouble since they take on Marlboro in a makeup game at home the following day.

With Wallkill a game out in front, Jack Kroh's squad could deadlock for the lead by taking its remaining two games.

The week's lineup:

(Baseball)
Kingston at Poughkeepsie.
Newburgh at Port Jervis.
Wappingers at Saugerties.

Princeton Coach Succumbs at 55

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Matthew (Mat) Davidson, credited with developing Princeton's top varsity football stars of the past decade, is dead at 55.

Davidson, who had been freshman football and baseball coach since 1956, died Sunday at his home after a long illness. He suffered a stroke last January.

His freshman grid and diamond teams posted six undefeated seasons here.

Charley Caldwell, the late head football coach at Princeton hailed Davidson as the man who developed the material Caldwell used so well.

Johnny Podres, Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher, once said Davidson was the man who developed his talents. Davidson made summer visits to Witherbee, N. Y., where Podres went to high school. Davidson was a native of Lima, N. Y., and a graduate of Ithaca College in 1926.

A requiem mass will be celebrated for him at 9 a. m. Thursday at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Port Henry, N. Y., followed by burial in St. Patrick's Cemetery there.

Two former Syracuse University baseball players came up to the major leagues this spring. They were Dutch Dotterer, Cincinnati catcher, and Walt Craddock, Kansas City pitcher.

MONTICELLO ANNOUNCER: Monticello Raceway track fans this summer will hear crisp-sounding, rapid-talking Warren (Rod) Wildy call the races. Rod, as he is called in trotting circles, is an exciting announcer whose colorful style has brought him a wide following.

The 35-year-old Marine Corps vet, fresh from Saratoga, got his big chance from Roy Shudt, nationally-known harness race caller, who summoned him as a replacement to the Grand Circuit meet at Rading, Pa., in 1956.

Fullmer Ready For Basilio
WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Carmen Basilio can have a fight with Gene Fullmer anytime he wants it, Fullmer's manager says.

Manager Marv Jensen spoke out Saturday after Johnny DeJohn, who handles Basilio, had said that Basilio was interested in boxing anyone, anywhere, sometime in July.

Jensen said he did not think Basilio would accept the offer. "That would eliminate his chances at getting another shot at Sugar Ray Robinson," Jensen contended.

Oisk and Campy Bridge the Past

NEW YORK (AP)—A dreary, rainy day in Philadelphia led to a bright, happy reunion in a New York hospital room for two old batterymates Sunday.

Carl Erskine and Roy Campanella, the Oisk and Campy of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Brooklyn days, spent three hours renewing old ties after the Dodgers' routout at Philadelphia.

And nothing much was changed, according to Erskine, although Campanella remains paralyzed from the chest down from injuries suffered in an automobile accident in January.

"He's the same old Campy and, man, I never spent a more pleasurable three hours in my life," said the veteran pitcher.

Rush Likes Cubs, He Beats 'Em, Too

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' Bob Rush apparently is content to let his pitching be the retort to uncomplimentary remarks supposedly made by his former manager, Bob Scheffing of the Cubs.

Rush beat Chicago 5-2 in the second game of a doubleheader. The Cubs took the first game 1-0 behind Taylor Phillips, who went from the Braves to Chicago in the same deal last winter.

Each registered his first victory over his former teammates. Rush now has won 4 and lost 2 while Phillips has a perfect 3-0 slate.

A characteristic story is told of the great Principal Cairns, one of the most simple-minded and humble of men. Attending a great public meeting on one occasion in Edinburgh, which was densely crowded, his appearance on the platform was received with loud cheers. Never imagining that this was for himself, he turned and saw following him a man of diminutive stature, and totally unknown. Taking him to be the object of popular applause, he stepped aside to let him pass, and as he did so began enthusiastically to join in the clapping. The act, so characteristic of the man, was received with uproarious delight, and fairly brought down the house.

A bright young executive type was strolling down Main Street in the rain. He had neither raincoat nor umbrella to protect him from the downpour. A salesman standing in the doorway of a clothing store noticed the damp pedestrian and shouted: "Salesman—Don't you wanna buy a raincoat, buddy?" The young man fingered his cord suit and replied: "Young man—I wouldn't think of it. This thing's wash and wear and I'm testing it out."

It's usually the eager beaver that makes enough money to buy mink.

An irritable man went to a farm for his vacation and hired the farmer to drive him around an hour or so each day. Bored by the farmer's friendly efforts at conversation the man brusquely told him that he was hired to drive, not talk.

The farmer kept his peace until he was asked what a certain item on his bill, presented at the end of the man's two weeks, meant.

"That's for sass," explained the farmer. "I usually don't take it, but when I do I charge." The girl did a beautiful dive off the high board, then she proceeded to swim around the pool with the grace and skill of a mermaid.

He—Gad, where did you ever learn to swim like that? She—Very simple. I was a gondola hop at a Venice hot dog stand.

Italy Voting For Deputies

ROME (AP)—A record turnout seemed in prospect today as late voters hurried to cast their ballots for deputies in Italy's third post-war Parliament.

The Interior Ministry said more than 77 per cent of the eligible voters—about 25 million—cast ballot Sunday.

At stake were five-year terms for all 596 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and six-year terms for the 286 Senate places. Voting is compulsory.

Two hundred thousand police and soldiers patrolled the booths but there were few incidents.

The generally apathetic, six-week campaign pitted a dozen major parties ranging from the Communists to the Fascists. In the center are the ruling Christian Democrats trying to retrieve the absolute majority they lost in 1953. They got 40 per cent of the vote then and had to form a coalition with other center parties.

The Reds and their fellow-traveling Socialists collected about 34 per cent of the popular vote in the last election five years ago.

Jansen Charged With Having Part In 3 Burglaries

Lester Chester Jansen, 19, of 245 Broadway, was arrested Saturday at 10:50 p. m. in police headquarters by Officer Charles McCullough on a charge of third degree burglary.

He was arraigned in city court today and a hearing was set for Thursday at 9 a. m.

Jansen, it is charged, was involved in recent burglaries at Cy's Diner, 322 Broadway; Guarantee Auto Parts Co., 682 Broadway, and Lincoln Park Motors, 400 Washington Avenue.

Students, President Are Still Deadlocked

PANAMA (AP)—Rebellious students and President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. were still deadlocked today in their dispute which has paralyzed business since last Thursday's riots.

National Guardsmen kept Panama City quiet but tense under modified martial law.

The students, who are complaining of poor school conditions, have withdrawn their demands for the dismissal of the education minister and three National Guard commanders.

The student leaders now insist that De la Guardia release all those arrested after last week's rioting, in which 11 persons were killed and many more injured.

The President refused but promised no reprisals would be taken against the students.

Tito Gets Greetings From Red Premier

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Changing his tune, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has sent warm birthday greetings to Yugoslav President Tito.

Khrushchev's telegram congratulating Tito on his 66th birthday expressed "the hope that the misunderstandings which exist between the union of Communists of Yugoslavia and the Communist party of the Soviet Union and other fraternal parties, which are no secret, will be overcome."

Use of the word misunderstanding may indicate that the Soviet boss really is talking a milder tone. In the past he has accused Tito of "revisionism" — which means backsliding from Moscow's version of the Communist creed and is one of the most serious sins in the Kremlin's book.

4 Elderly Persons Die in Home Fire

TORONTO (AP)—At least four old persons died today in a fire at a Toronto nursing home. Fire department officials said several others were near death.

The fire broke out about 4 a. m. at the Craig Nursing Home. Most of the victims were killed by smoke poisoning. The fire was confined to the top floor of the three-story building. Some of the inmates were lowered from the second floor by stretcher.

About 60 persons lived in the home.

Curfews Imposed
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Authorities imposed curfews and sent out troop reinforcements today after a week of rioting that has claimed at least 13 lives in East and West Ceylon.

Child, 6 Others Drown in Tragedy On Texas Beach

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP)—Struggles of a drowning child drew 10 rescuers off a sunny beach late Sunday and seven persons perished, including the little girl the others tried to save.

Also drowned were an Air Force chaplain, the little girl's mother and four other children.

The tragic sequence started after Janice Bailey, 9, stepped into a deep hole off the small public beach opposite this Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico.

Leonard Berry, 40, an Air Force priest from Syracuse, N. Y., dived in.

The father of another child, who also drowned, and Janice's mother Mrs. Mary Bailey, 26, followed. Efforts to help were made by several other children, including the four-who went down.

Wayne Bailey, an airman from Foster Air Force Base at neighboring Victoria, Tex., was in the crowd of more than 3,000 persons who saw the bodies of his wife and daughter pulled from the water.

"That's my wife!" he cried out as Mrs. Bailey was brought ashore dead. "That's Father Berry! Oh, my God—there comes my daughter!"

Fire Chief Dick Fox, who also heads the Aransas County emergency corps, said most of the surf bathers knew what was happening but there was no panic.

He identified these other dead: David Curby, 7, Aransas Pass, Tex.; Margarita Torres, 11, Rockport, and Aurelia Tomas, 10, Rockport.

Joining in the vain rescue attempt was Concepcion Tomas, who saw a little girl thrashing in the water and dashed from his parked car. He arrived too late to reach Janice or his own daughter.

The seven bodies were recovered within an hour and a half. Resuscitation efforts were unsuccessful.

"Some signs warning people about that deep hole are going to be put up," the fire chief said. He estimated the sandy bottom drops into a hole eight feet deep at that point.
